What the heck happened last night?

Ang lakas ng Dow & Nasdaq. Dow was up by 110 pts in the first 2 hours. Nasdaq was up by 30 pts in the same time. Then it went into the red by 3pm their time. It finished just slightly up...it don't look good for long positions...

Good for us shorters! :lol:

I agree Yamada, I too am a shorter so good for us. Pero it had to do something with the Fed minutes indicating housing slump. Laki nga gulat ko eh yung gising pa ako the Dow was up 100 pts pag gising ko less than 20 na lang yung gain.... :shock:

The market tried to stay up last night. Only the Dow was convincingly green. Nasdaq seemed to struggle.

This week is Fed week where Ben Bernanke and the rest of the Fedreal Rserve gang will meet on the US Fed Funds Rate.... Makes the market a little bit more exciting especially if they change rates which expectations are for a no change....

Re: NYSE / Nasdaq

Posted by Sherwin Go - 2007/02/27 16:15

This is the worst day I have ever seen in the US markets (I havent been trading during the tech bubble and the 9/11 attacks so...) the DJIA dropped a massive 416.02 pts which is a 3.3% drop, the NASDAQ dropped 96.66 pts for a 3.86% drop and the broader S&P 500 dropped 50.33 which is 3.47%

This is the start of a massive correction ala May, who knows maybe bear market. Basta shorts ang in suotin ngayon :lol:

Re: NYSE / Nasdaq

Dow is currently up 100+ pts. It could spill over to tomorrow's local market giving us the rally we're looking for. Chance to get out and stay liquid...

Pasko nanaman ulit mga shorters (I know Yamada is also short) :lol:

Dow dropped 242.66 pts thats a 2% drop. The NASDAQ dropped 51.72 also a 2% drop while the Spidey 28.65 also 2% drop.

The Dow has crossed the 13,000 pyscho mark for the 1st time ever today.

Re: NYSE / Nasdaq

We had a rather bizzare trading day today. The NASDAQ had technical problems so all the quotes are wrong and the time and sales are not updated. :lol: Wow this is the first.

You also noticed they started 10:00 instead of 9:30? No wonder my nasdaq stocks werent' moving while the ones on NYSE were already trading.

Re: NYSE / Nasdaq

The Dow rallied last night due to the Fed cutting one of its rates, the discount rate for those who needed a bailout during this mortgage crisis.

It was good to see a lot of issues in green. But one thing stood out from the comments about last night, things were bullish not because things already turned around, but it was a lot of short covering that was happening.

It remains to be seen if they can sustain the rally for a few more days.

:(hello guys! Just took the TA seminar this summer and have just started sa us equities. I just got back here in NY para sa fall semester so im still a newbie pati dito sa chatroom. mejo maliit ung margin account ko kaya i dont have the option to short, so buy and sell lang pwede sakin. and lo and behold, nasunog ako kahapon! hehe. long ako on DD, VLO and ACAS and currently still holding on to VLO and ACAS paren.

so my question is, wheres a good place to go long in terms of industries and kung may mga stock picks kayong alam, it would be greatly appreciated. pati as a beginner investor/trader, wheres a nice stock pool to look at stocks i.e. list of 50 or so stocks na pwede imonitor kung may nagcoconsolidate.

Salamat!! and sana pagpalain ng Diyos sina pareng Hank at Ben! :P

How about you concentrate on the index issues first? Monitor the 30 issues of DJIA & the 100 issues of Nasdaq index. Once you're familiar with them, maybe you may want to include other active issues.

Funny thing is the market is tanking WITHOUT short selling on financial stocks. With short selling the market is going to hell. Matagal pa ang recovery since these prices are artificially being prop up by the US government and its not done by the free markets since there is no short selling on important financial issues that are heavily weight on the S&P500.
